

The Crêt du Nû

For many peoples, the Jura stops at Fort de l'Ecluse. This might be politically true. However, geologically, this long range goes along a long piece further towards south-west.

The Bugey range is part of the Jura, geologically speaking. Therefore, when one hikes there, one is not really astonished by the landscape. Here we will go towards Crêt du Nû, a top overlooking Rhone's Valley.
